Trump is Doomed

By Louis Kriesberg

Trump is making weirder and weirder decisions. His aides salute, obey, and praise him. No counter evidence is sought or believed. But the economy is getting shakier. The consequences of global warming are increasing but needed responses are being reduced. Effective policies for reducing the national debt, increasing housing, stopping mass shootings, and expanding childcare, should be taken. The present results of Trump's actions are failing. This is increasingly evident. We should not suffer the policies that are destroying our country. People are beginning to recognize the failures. Now is the time to increase the rising resistance. Alternative policies must be undertaken as well as possible.
